

Analysis and treatment of water contaminated with oil and/or chemical products

The basic goal of all our operations is to isolate water from oil and reuse the oil for other purposes and decontaminate the water for its release in the sewer system. The oily waters received come mainly from tank washing, equipment cleaning on ships and contaminated sites

